Video and Audio : Poetry Archive Audio

Poetry Archive Audio

The Poetry Archive is an independent organization founded by the former British poet laureate, Andrew Motion, who wa that high quality audio recordings of contemporary poets reading their own works were not being produced and that co an important resource was being lost for posterity. The Poetry Archive was thus established to create recordings of imp contemporary poets based on the belief that such readings are a powerful source of insight, understanding and enjoym as creating brand new recordings, the Archive also gathers together and preserves historic and hard to find recordings poets. So, The Poetry Archive enables listeners to hear the works of contemporary poets such as Billy Collins, Carol Ann Michael Longley alongside historic recordings of Edmund Blunden, E.E. Cummings, Sylvia Plath and many more.

We have added over 920 links to Poetry Archive recordings with links for featured poets appearing on their Author Page under the Video and Audio tab in Quick Search and Texts: All searches. Clips are listed alphabetically, by author, and w
